

The couple chose a two-layer red velvet cake for their wedding, and also offered guests warm cream-filled churros for dessert. The confection's design was simple and elegant, and evoked Ashley's dress. The reception tables were topped with low centerpieces for easy conversation. Wood tables and dark chiavari chairs paired well with the cream-colored linens. "A lot of our décor was the play of light and dark, sleek and dramatic," Ashley says.

